Kossuth in England. His reception has been highly gratifying. His speeches have carried captive the public admiration, and the people and the aristocracy unite in honoring him. Nowhere does the voice of disapprobation arise-nowhere does the lip of the proud curl in contempt at the man who would have poor men for his friends! Republicans alone can be led into the wiles of imperial tyranny-they alone can traduce and contemn the great leader of "a people who are not fit for self-government." It has been said that any people may be trusted with freedom who dare fight for it. If so, the deserts of the Hungarians have not yet to be proved.

We shall see Kossuth about the last of next week; and after he shall have penitentially prostrated himself before a portion of the editors of old fogeydom, we shall give him a cheer

The New York Herald well and truly says In reply to toasts and addresses, he delivered several speeches, which are both eloquent and perspicuous. From them we learn the real sentiments of Kossuth concerning public matters and governments. He is at present no re-publican; he is in favor of constitutional monarchy as it exists in England, and is opposed to socialism. Many of the American people will be disappointed at this, but we are not so in the least. A man cannot become a republican, in the American sense of the term, in a day. To be a republican requires experience and ed-ucation under a republic. Were Kossuth, with his present inexperience, to announce himself a republican, as we understand it, we would be inclined to look upon him as a visionary—as an enthusiast—rather than as a practical man, which we take him to be. He is in favor of constitutional monarchy. And who would not embrace such a form of government, rather than despotism—and Austrian despotism especially.

Kossuth sees the comparative liberty there is solute tyranny which the people of Germany suffer under the other. Why, therefore, should he not say he was in favor of constitutional monarchy? It is the first step towards republicanism. We do not despair of yet hearing from Kossuth's lips that he is a republican. When he arrives in this country, and sees the beautiful and harmonious working of our system of government, he will be converted, and will as much prefer it to constitutional monarchy as he now does constitutional monarchy to despotism. In avoiding the socialists, and refusing to accept a banquet from the English radicals Kossuth has shown wisdom, while he has disap pointed the former, who expected to find him red republican of the deepest tinge. It is to be hoped he will exhibit similar discrimination when he arrives on our shores.

The Spanish Difficulty.

We find the following despatch from this city, dated yesterday, in the Baltimore Sun of this morning:

learn from undoubted sources that the Spanish Minister to-day demanded, under instructions, that our Government invite back the Spanish Consul to New Orleans, bring him there in an American naval vessel, salute his consulate flag, restore his effects, and those of the other Spaniards destroyed in the late riots, or Calderon de la Barca, the Spanish Minister, will demand his passports. It is understood that Mr. Webster has promptly refused to comply with

We have to add an important fact bearing on the above, and on which reliance may be placed. It is, that our Government is in possession of the proofs that, firstly, no trial of Crittenden and his men was had; and, secondly, the bodies of a portion of them were mutilated after death.

In view of all this, Spain can make few de mands upon our Government that will be likely to meet with favor; and although we are assured she is prepared to do us sundry serious evils, we do not think our position is therefore one of very great peril. In any contest she may France and England will be successfully insition to interfere, and partly because they both have other matters to attend to. And Spain herself would not be a very formidable antagonist. She is as helpless as she is infatuated with the idea of her prowess. The London Times, in a late review of her resources, remarks:

"The home army, previous to the late ex-"The home army, previous to the late exportation of troops to Cuba, consisted of about 100,000 men, and embodied all manner of worthless stuff, including the gen d'armerie, or military police; and perhaps the calculation would flatter, were we to set down the actual military force of the monarchy, at home and abroad, much within the limit we have named domestic establishment. Add to these considerations the fact that government bonds are the capital stock of English speculators, and that the national obligations are so enormous as to require the permission of the Eng-lish broker before a declaration of war can be issued, and we have several serious obstacles to hostilities."

We would prefer a condition of peace, but in a contest between American freedom and Spanish monarchy we should have few regrets. It might be found a means of preparing, perhaps, the darkest region of Europe for a republican government at as early an hour as the most enlightened shall be prepared to espouse it of its own accord.

SABBATH SCHOOL UNION .- Quite an interesting meeting of this association occurred last ng, at the Methodist Episcopal Church South, on Eighth street. After some remarks by Mr. Pascoe in relation to the recent establishment of the school in connexion with the Church in which the meeting was held, the offering up of prayer by Rev. Dr. Junkin, and the singing of appropriate pieces by the schools of Wesley Chapel and the Fourth Presbyterian Church, Mr. J. C. Harkness offered a resolution nmending to the several schools composing the Union the formation of Sabbath School temperance societies, and setting apart one meeting of the Union in each quarter for the especial consideration of the subject of temperance, to be addressed by some minister, or other advocate of the cause. This resolution gave rise to an animated debate, in which Mesars. Harkness, Johnson, Rothwell, and McKelden advocated its adoption, and Mesars. Wilson and Richards opposed its latter clause. The whole resolution was finally adopted by a very decisive vote. After which, prayer was again offered, and the meeting was closed with a doxology and the benediction.

THE DOMESTIC POLICY OF THE RUSSIAN EN-PEROR.—Late accounts state that the Russian government intends to alter the law with regard to the estates of those proprietors who cannot pay up the interest of their debt to the crown. The government, whose object it has been gradually to change the serfs of the nobles into crown peasants, has been in the habit of advancing money to the proprietors, at the rate of from two hundred to four hundred roubles for each serf on the estate, for which, of course, the soil was also engaged. The interest is fixed at seven per cent., and the regular payment of this amount paid off the debt in twenty-six years. But the payments in many cases are irregular; and whenever they are interrupted for a term of ten years, the estates are sold by auction to the highest bidder. The proprietor, however, by putting forward a fictitious purchaser, in the person of a friend or relative, generally contrives to keep possession of the land, especially as the other nobles, for the honor of the "order," will seldom compete for the purchase, and men of the citizen class are not qualified to hold land at all. To prevent this evasion, and facilitate the conversion of serfs into crown peasants, a ukase is to be published, according to which, if the interest remains unpaid, the government will have the estates valued, and, by paying the proprietor the difference between the value and the incumdeclare the serfs peasants of the crown. THE LAND OF PLENTY .- Such is ours. It has plenty of every thing necessary for man, and yet, in the midst of his abundance of good things, he cried out about the scarcity of money: and lo, that too is abundant! " More than three years have passed," says a writer in the New York Tribune, "since gold was first discovered on the banks of the south fork of the American brance on it, take possession of the soil, and river. These years have been big with events, and will mark the commencement of a wonderful era in the history of the world. The fable of Aladdin's Lamp has been changed to a verity. In 1849, on the reception of the first news of the discovery of gold, a gentleman of this city, speaking with a friend of mine on that event, emarked: 'That discovery of gold in California is just what we want. We need a source from which a supply of two or three millions of dollars per annum can be drawn, with certainty, to keep things steady here, and give confidence to commercial affairs and business generally.' Two years have elapsed, and the supply from that 'source' exceeds, semi-monthly, the sum then deemed an adequate annual regulator. In two years more, the shipment of gold-dust from California will be more than doubled-probably quadrupled."

We have received a copy of the speech of C. G. BAYLOR, esq., delivered before the Convention of Cotton Planters recently held at Macon, Ga. The theme of Mr. Baylor is embodied in the proposition of a direct intercourse between the Southern States and continental Europe. We cannot see how any Southern man can withhold his assent or his means from the encouragement of such an enterprise, and are assured that Mr. Baylor's efforts will entitle him to the thanks of the entire South.

THE FIRST AND SECOND ASSISTANT POST-MASTERS GENERAL.—The announcement of an exchange of the duties of these two officers was made by us in advance of all others, and John D. Clark, picked up a three-cent piece, was made correctly, just as it is given in the and asking the Justice if he was the owner, was official papers of this morning. We state this to prevent misapprehension.

IMPARTIALITY OF THE POPE .- It is remarked, mong other late items of Italian news, that although last year the Pope, in an impulse of gratitude to Mr. Cass, the American charge d'affaires, granted special permission to the Americans in Rome to celebrate Divine worship in the National Chapel, yet, in order to deprive all other Protestant congregations of a ground of complaint, the Papal Cabinet has decided to withdraw the privilege.

The papers of the United States generally discountenance the notorious Lola Montes. woked by her-partly because of their indispo- It is proposed to hiss her from the stage. We protest against this, for she is a woman and we are Americans. We propose, however, to hiss her managers, the proprietors of theatres in-troducing her, and all other abettors, out of the community. But if they are tolerated, and our people fill the theatre on the announcement of her name, why then let the play go on. Hisses and hooting will be out of time, and the tastes of the community established.

May Jenny Lind has been singing at Columus, Ohio, and the Journal describes her as looking and singing better than when there before. In the exuberance of its praise, the Journal says: "Those who know her will say she has a bad-looking nose, but nobody ever auctioneer. notices this when she is on the stage." think it wrong not to notice her nose, good or Bad-looking, and Jenny will not thank her audiences for slighting an organ of so much importance to herself! We should be greatly delighted to see the criticised nose on our boards, and the lovely Jenny behind it!

We recently strolled through the grounds of the Smithsonian Institution, and were highly gratified at the improvements being made there; the walks are most beautifully laid off, and in our opinion there is no public ground in the city that will compete with it when finished. From present indications, we would infer that it will next summer become one of the most fashionable promenades in the city. We are also pleased to see the improvements in buildings, &c., in the neighborhood of the Institution. Ere long, this will be one of the most desirable places for public residences.

His excellency Gov. CALL, of Florida. has arrived in this city, and taken apartments at Gadsby's Hotel.

The steamer William Selden is to be repainted, not repaired. Captain Page's work does not soon need any thing of that sort. His establishment at the foot of 7th street presents a busy and a lively appearance.

Steamers-Death of Rev. Dr. Croswell-Disgraceful Affray.

New York, Nov. 10.—The Cambria takes the lace of the steamer Canada, and was to have eft Liverpool for Halifax on the 1st of Novem ber. She is now due.

The Rev. Dr. Croswell, pastor of the Episco pal Church in Greene street, was taken sud-denly ill in the pulpit on Sunday afternoon, and was conveyed to his residence, where he expired at 6 o'clock.

A disgraceful affray occurred yesterday between two parties of men, relative to the pos-session of a dead body. It appears that a man named George Hartline died at the house of a negro man in the 6th ward. While he was being brought out for interment, an attack was made by a party of men, who seized the body and placed it on another hearse prepared for the purpose. A fight then ensued between the party who first had possession of the body and those who rescued it.

We learn that a novel suit at law is now pending before a magistrate in this city. It has been described to us as follows: William Cole, constable, while in the office of Justice informed that he was not. Mr. Cole, thereupon, put the sum found into his pocket. The Justice then demanded the money on the ground that he was the rightful owner-the money having been found in his office. Mr. Cole refused to deliver, on the ground that the Justice said it was not his money. The Justice has commenced suit before Thomas C. Donn, esq., against Mr. Cole, to recover the said amoun detained by him. How the matter will be determined we shall see.

MILITARY .- We learn that the Continental Guards, a new volunteer company being raised in the Seventh Ward, now number upwards of seventy members. They have two drills a week at Potomac Hall; and we hear that they are making fine improvements in the exercise. are told by one of their members that they expect one of their uniforms on from Philadelphia by the next drill-night, which is to-morrow.

THE TARIFF. -The Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Journal of Commerce writes under date of the 6th inst. :

It is believed that Mr. Secretary Corwin, who is now preparing his annual report on the state of the finances, will present strong views and propositions in favor of such modifications of the Tariff as well afford adequate protection to iron and other domestic products and manufactures.

The Pennsylvanians are very active on the subject, and public meetings are held by men of all political parties for the purpose of promoting the measures for the encouragement of the iron interest. It is well known that a strong effort will be made, as I have heretofore stated, in behalf of some scheme that will afford relief to the iron interest exclusively.

They suppose that this interest will conciliate the favor of politicians; and that both parties, in anticipation of the Presidential election, day, we were struck with the vast number of buildings and inprovements being made in various portions of the city. At the corner of H and Fifteenth streets we notice that B. Smith, eq., is erecting quite a fine brick dwelling, thirty-seven fact front and sixty-three fact deep, stucco fronts. The work is progressing finely under George T. Langley, bricklayer, and William Mohun, carpenter. We notice also, in the same vicinity, immediately opposite Lafayette Square, that Benjamin Ogle Tayloe, esq., is having placed to his already superb residence a handsome verandah, of malleable and cast iron. This is certainly an improvement, and it will prove quite an ornament to his GREAT CURE FOR COUGHS AND COLDS.

D. R. J. S. ROSE'S EXPECTORANT or COUGH SYRUP, is decidedly the most valuable Compound for Coughs and Colds. Even Consumption is curable, if stended to in time. It allays irritation of the Lungs, removes all Bronchial affections, and is a certain cure for a sudden cold, accompanied with soreness of throat and cough.

The great demand for this medicine in Philadelphia and elsewhere is the strongest evidence, as the thousands who are using it will testify, of its superiority over every other cough preparation. Price only 50 cents per bottle.

I have been called on by over three thousand cases within the last few years, and many of them had tried the various bitter compounds to their delusion; fortunately the most were in time, and were soon cured by the above compound, which contains no mercury, and does not injure but always improves the constitution, as thousands can testify.

DIRECTIONS.—Keep the bowels open with my alterative Pills, and take one or two teaspoonsful of the Dyspeptic Compound one hour before each meal. When much acidity happens, take this dose every four hours.
